

Reynolds Elementary Dons Purple for Pancreatic Cancer Awareness

Walking down the halls of Reynolds Elementary, you would notice that many were dressed in various shades of purple. This was the day that was set aside to bring awareness to finding a cure for pancreatic cancer. The staff and students donned purple to show support for this cause. It was also a day to remember loved ones who we lost to this disease. Kindergarten teacher Elaine Leise was in the minds of all, along with Dick Wilson and Carl Maurer, beloved spouses of two of Reynolds staff.
